ARMY SERGEANT BADLY BURNED IN GAS BLAST

At two o'clock this afternoon hospital authorities held little hope for the recovery of Sergeant Petee.

Staff Sergeant Robert Petee, 20, Monroe, Michigan, is in a critical condition in the Annie M. Warner hospital suffering from third degree burns from head to foot received in an explosion of a gas radiator in one of the tourist cabins at Green Gables, Steinwehr avenue, at 11:10 this morning.

Cornal Butt, owner of the tourist court, said that Sgt. Petee ran from the cabin immediately after the explosion without any clothes.

The full force of the blast blew the door and doorframe a distance of 40 feet, while the cabin was ablaze and extinguished by the Gettysburg Fire department.

Lighted Gas Radiator

Sgt. Petee, apparently, turned on a gas radiator this morning to heat the cabin. He returned to bed and while there lighted a cigarette. Gas fumes were ignited causing the blast. Petee told Mr. Butt before retiring Tuesday evening, that he intended to get up early this morning and tour the battlefield. It is believed that he hadn't left the cabin this morning.

Sgt. Petee was conscious and coherent immediately after the explosion. He asked Mr. Butt to get in touch with the commanding officer at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, where he was to report today.

Fire Chief James A. Aumen estimated the fire damage at $560.

Dr. C. G. Crist, accompanied the ambulance, and reported that Sgt. Petee was critically burned.

POLICE BLAME SPEEDING FOR MOST MISHAPS

The lack of common courtesy on the highways and the taking of ordinary safety precautions was attributed by state police of the Gettysburg sub-station for the 15 accidents investigated during April.

Principal causes of these accidents, according to Sgt. W. Kurt Duhrkoff, were driving too fast for road conditions, failing to yield half the highway and similar offenses.

Accidents, however, were fewer during the past month than in March or in April a year ago, according to Sergeant Duhrkoff. The total investigated by the state police was 15, compared with 24 in March and 22 in April, 1947. One motorist met death in a highway accident last month, but in March there were two fatalities and in April a year ago three were killed.

Week-ends Most Hazardous

Twenty-one persons were injured in April, 1948: 25 in March, and 17 in April, 1947. The total estimated damage to property last month was far below the figures for the other two months, $5,800, compared with $20,800 for March and $15,190 for April, 1947.

U.S. PURCHASES 66 ACRES NEAR "PEACE LIGHT"

Sixty-six and one-half acres of land have been purchased by the National Park Service, U. S. Department of the Interior, to be added to the government-owned area of the Gettysburg Battlefield, it was announced today by Dr. J. Walter Coleman, local superintendent.

The Government purchased 66 acres of land from Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy H. Winebrenner, for $20,000 and one-half acre from Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Eckert, for $1,250.

The Hoffman-Winebrenner property is the former Gettysburg Airport on the Mummaburg road in front of the Eternal Light Peace Memorial. The Eckert property adjoins it.

$200,000 Appropriations
The money for the purchase of the land comes from a $200,000 federal appropriation for the Interior Department for the fiscal year ending June 30. The money was appropriated to purchase parcels of land for National Parks wherever the Department deemed it essential and could be secured to the best advantage of the Department.

The deeds to the properties have been sent to the Director of the National Park Service for approval and will then be sent to the Attorney General for final approval.

Doctor Coleman said the land, when acquired, will be leased by the government to local farmers for agricultural and orchard purposes. This was also planned in the authorization bill. The purpose is to maintain the land so that it will look as nearly as possible the way it looked in July 1863 when the three days' Battle of Gettysburg was fought.

Littlestown School Auditorium Filled To Overflowing For Last Session Times Cooking School

Littlestown's first annual Gettysburg Times cooking school which closed Tuesday night met all expectations—and far surpassed them.

The enthusiasm of the women who came, saw and learned new things about cooking knew no bounds. A total of 1,556 women filled the auditorium of St. Aloysius school on the two nights of the cooking school, Monday and Tuesday.

The attendance opening night was 714. Eight hundred and forty-two women jammed the large auditorium Tuesday night. Every chair was occupied. Women perched on tables at the rear of the hall. One woman used an upturned waste paper basket for a chair. Dozens who arrived late and were unable to find chairs remained throughout the session, standing along the rear wall.

Largest Gathering Of Women
Preparations had been made for a large crowd, but the number of Littlestown and vicinity women who attended the closing session exceeded all estimates. Additional chairs were brought in, but still the crowd could not all be seated.

It was the largest gathering of women ever assembled in Littlestown. It was a tribute not only to a community service rendered by The Gettysburg Times, but to Mrs. Nancy Rowe, whose homemaking lectures and personality won her hundreds of new friends.

"The reception you have accorded The Gettysburg Times cooking school has been reassuring to all of us on The Times Staff," Carl Baum, manager of the newspaper said, at the conclusion of Mrs. Rowe's lecture. "We are definitely and sincerely interested in Littlestown and for the past two years have been putting forth our best efforts to be of service to this community. The starting of a cooking school of Mrs. Rowe's standard is no small undertaking. It involves a lot of hard work and considerable expense not to mention the complete co-operation of leading merchants and manufacturers and of the women of the community themselves."

Award Many Prizes
The Littlestown school closed in a shower of gifts. 72 awards—baskets of groceries, food prepared by Mrs. Rowe, canned goods, food preparations, coffee, etc., and the special awards donated by merchants and manufacturers—were given out.

Those who received the food baskets were: Mrs. Dennis Hartlieb, Prince street; Opal Mays, Frederick street extended; Mrs. H. M. Badders, 41 Lumber street; Miss Kathryn Bortner, Littlestown R. 1; Mrs. C. W. Harner, 204 East King street; Mrs. Arthur Boyd, Littlestown; Mrs. Emma M. Wilson, 106 East King street; Mrs. R. J. Ohio Truck Driver Killed, Countian Is Badly Hurt In Freak Crash Tuesday Night

The driver of a tractor-trailer was killed, and another man seriously injured, at 9:45 o'clock Tuesday night, when the tractor-trailer jack-knifed, rolled over and struck a barn near York Springs, after striking the rear of another truck.

Marion J. Metzler, 30, Steubenville, Ohio, driver of the tractor-trailer, was dead when he was pulled from the cab of his vehicle. Dr. C. G. Crist, coroner, said death was due to a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Melvin Reaver, 34, York Springs R. 2, who was in his barn when it was struck by the tractor-trailer, is in the Hanover General hospital with two fractured ribs, cerebral concussion, multiple contusions and internal injuries. His condition was reported as fair today.

State police of the Gettysburg sub-station, who investigated, said Metzler was driving a truck owned by George Stanko, Jr., Steubenville, north on Route 94, the Hanover-Cross Keys-York Springs road. The truck was loaded with uncut government post cards.

Barn Falls On Men
Two miles south of York Springs a light truck operated by Gerald Adolph, 49, York R. 9, and owned by the Honeybrook Gas company, made a left turn into a driveway. Adolph, state police said, was making a delivery of bottled gas.

Metzler, driving north behind the light truck, swerved to the right and struck the left rear of Adolph's truck, turning it over. The tractor-trailer then jack-knifed, rolled over and struck the barn.

Reaver had just driven his automobile into the barn, and got out of the car. The tractor-trailer impact buckled the timbers of the barn, and approximately five tons of hay fell on the tractor-trailer, and on Reaver and his automobile.

Count $13,500 Damage
The tractor-trailer also struck a corn crib next to the barn, and about three and a half tons of corn spilled out. It took rescuers an hour to extricate the dead man from the wreckage, state police said.

Adolph, the driver of the bottled gas truck, escaped injury, the officer who investigated the accident said.

Metzler was en route from Washington to St. Louis with the load of post cards, police said. The demolished tractor-trailer was moved to a York Springs garage.

Damage to the latter vehicle was estimated by state police at $11,000; to the barn, $1,500; to Adolph's truck, $250, and to Reaver's car, $700.

Metzler's body was removed to the Pittenturf funeral home at York Springs.

York Springs and Hampton fire companies were called to the accident scene to stand by in case of fire with the hay piled over the truck and its hot motor while gasoline and oil dripped out of the wrecked truck. Their services were not needed.

BUY PROPERTIES FOR FRUIT LAB; TO ISSUE BONDS

Purchase of two pieces of property at Arendtsville for a new fruit laboratory and experimental orchards was voted Tuesday at a meeting of the board of directors of the South Mountain Fruit Research Laboratories, and authorization was also given for a $30,000 bond issue to pay for the property and improvements.

Properties purchased include a large dwelling owned by Katie Sheely and a farm owned by Amos Sheely. Cost of both pieces of property, the attorney for the laboratories said, was $16,600. The meeting of the directors was held in the offices of the National Fruit Product company, Peach Glen.

The directors authorized the lease of the property to the Pennsylvania State College for a period of 20 years, beginning July 1. They also authorized an option to the state college for purchase of the land when rentals have paid for the cost and improvements.

Serial 20-Year Bonds
The $30,000 bond issue will be in three per cent serial bonds, to be retired in 20 years. The bonds will be sold to fruit growers of Adams, Franklin, Cumberland and York counties. Officials of the Research Laboratories board of directors present at the meeting included M. E. Knouse, president; R. C. Lott, secretary, and Harvey B. Raffensperger, treasurer. The directors

Littlestown School Auditorium Filled To Overflowing For Last Session Times Cooking School

Littlestown's first annual Gettysburg Times cooking school which closed Tuesday night met all expectations—and far surpassed them.

The enthusiasm of the women who came, saw and learned new things about cooking knew no bounds. A total of 1,556 women filled the auditorium of St. Aloysius school on the two nights of the cooking school, Monday and Tuesday.

The attendance opening night was 714. Eight hundred and forty-two women jammed the large auditorium Tuesday night. Every chair was occupied. Women perched on tables at the rear of the hall. One woman used an upturned waste paper basket for a chair. Dozens who arrived late and were unable to find chairs remained throughout the session, standing along the rear wall.

Largest Gathering Of Women

Preparations had been made for a large crowd, but the number of Littlestown and vicinity women who attended the closing session exceeded all estimates. Additional chairs were brought in, but still the crowd could not all be seated.

It was the largest gathering of women ever assembled in Littlestown. It was a tribute not only to a community service rendered by The Gettysburg Times, but to Mrs. Nancy Rowe, whose homemaking lectures and personality won her hundreds of new friends.

"The reception you have accorded

The Gettysburg Times cooking school has been reassuring to all of us on The Times Staff," Carl Baum, manager of the newspaper said, at the conclusion of Mrs. Rowe's lecture. "We are definitely and sincerely interested in Littlestown and for the past two years have been putting forth our best efforts to be of service to this community. The starting of a cooking school of Mrs. Rowe's standard is no small undertaking. It involves a lot of hard work and considerable expense not to mention the complete co-operation of leading merchants and manufacturers and of the women of the community themselves."

Award Many Prizes

The Littlestown school closed in a shower of gifts. 72 awards—baskets of groceries, food prepared by Mrs. Rowe, canned goods, food preparations, coffee, etc., and the special awards donated by merchants and manufacturers—were given out.

Those who received the food baskets were: Mrs. Dennis Hartlaub, Prince street; Opal Mays, Frederick street extended; Mrs. H. M. Badders, 41 Lumber street; Miss Kathryn Bortner, Littlestown R. 1; Mrs. C. W. Harner, 204 East King street; Mrs. Arthur Boyd, Littlestown; Mrs. Emma M. Wilson, 106 East King street; Mrs. R. J. HISTORIANS CONDUCT TOUR

Points of historical interest in the Two Taverns and Barlow sections were visited Tuesday evening by about 30 members of the Adams County Historical society on their first tour of the season.

First stop was at the old home of James Hunter, Adams county's first murderer, who was defended by Thaddeus Stevens in a case in Adams county court that established the attorney's reputation at the bar.

The home, now a part of the property of Charles Altomose is located along the Gettysburg-Littlestown highway, just south of Two Taverns. The property is well known in that section as the former Rudisill farm.

Then the caravan went to the farm of Leslie Kennel, northeast of Two Taverns in Mt. Joy township, where the largest meteorite ever

The driver of a tractor-trailer was killed, and another man seriously injured, at 9:45 o'clock Tuesday night, when the tractor-trailer jack-knifed, rolled over and struck a barn near York Springs, after striking the rear of another truck.

Marion J. Metzler, 30, Steubenville, Ohio, driver of the tractor-trailer, was dead when he was pulled from the cab of his vehicle. Dr. C. G. Crist, coroner, said death was due to a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Melvin Reaver, 34, York Springs R. 2, who was in his barn when it was struck by the tractor-trailer, is in the Hanover General hospital with two fractured ribs, cerebral concussion, multiple contusions and internal injuries. His condition was reported as fair today.

State police of the Gettysburg sub-station, who investigated, said Metzler was driving a truck owned by George Stanko, Jr., Steubenville, north on Route 94, the Hanover-Cross Keys-York Springs road. The truck was loaded with uncut government post cards.

Barn Falls On Men

Two miles south of York Springs a light truck operated by Gerald Adolph, 49, York R. 9, and owned by the Honeybrook Gas company, made a left turn into a driveway. Adolph, state police said, was making a delivery of bottled gas.

Metzler, driving north behind the light truck, swerved to the right and struck the left rear of Adolph's truck, turning it over. The tractor-trailer then jack-knifed, rolled over and struck the barn.

Reaver had just driven his automobile into the barn, and got out of the car. The tractor-trailer impact buckled the timbers of the barn, and approximately five tons of hay fell on the tractor-trailer, and on Reaver and his automobile.

Count $15,500 Damage

The tractor-trailer also struck a corn crib next to the barn, and a corn three and a half tons of corn spilled out. It took rescuers an hour to extricate the dead man from the wreckage, state police said.

Adolph, the driver of the bottled gas truck, escaped injury, the officer who investigated the

TAFT LEADING IN OHIO VOTE

Columbus, O., May 5 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft took a 14 to 9 lead today in a see-saw vote battle with Harold E. Stassen for Ohio's 23 contested GOP Presidential delegates.

Incomplete returns from yesterday's 700,000-vote Republican primary indicated seven Taft delegates had been elected and seven others led for a total of 14. Taft already has 30 delegates without contest.

The vote count indicated four Stassen delegates had been elected—in the Akron and Youngstown industrial areas—and five others were leading for a total of nine.

This is short of the 12 delegates Stassen predicted he would get at the end of his Ohio campaign. It was one less than the 10 most politicians said he needed to make his foray into Taft's home state a success.

Losses By Default

Stassen apparently lost his bid for one of nine at-large delegates. He let eight of these places go by default to Taft by not entering candidates. He did the same in 11 district races for 22 delegates.

Carrington T. Marshall, the sole Stassen at-large candidate, dropped so far behind in the count from 6,841 of the state's 9,385 polling places that he seemed out of the running. Marshall had 206,895 votes to the 236,631 rolled up by Ed D. Scherr, Taft's weakest at-large candidate.

These men are guaranteed their assignments for at least one year so that they can be near enough to come home week-ends. Moreover they were reenlisted at their old grades.

FAIRFIELD LIONS HEAR INDIA TALK

Britain's withdrawal from India and Palestine prior to the solution of the problems there may lead to an increase in Communism among disaffected elements in those countries, District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter told the Fairfield Lions club Tuesday evening.

Speaking at a regular meeting of the club held in the Shetter house, Chambersburg street, Teeter told of his experiences in India during World War II and then pointed out that "we brought pressure to bear on Britain urging it to withdraw from India and Palestine before we had any solution for the problems there. Unless the situation stabilizes more rapidly than appears possible at present it is to be feared that disaffected elements will be ripe for the experienced disciples of Communism who do their best work in stirring up the discontented."

The possibility of publishing a booklet advertising the advantages of Fairfield and the possibility of conducting a voluntary scrap campaign and clean-up week in Fairfield were discussed by members of the club. President Robert Kleppinger presided with 30 in attendance.

CARDS FOLLOW TITLE CUSTOM IN NIGHT WIN

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals this season are following an old National League custom—win at night and you win the pennant.

That proved to be the winning formula in 1946 and 1947. The Cardinals were the best night owls in '46, winning 32 and losing 22 for a .593 percentage. Brooklyn was second at night, 12 percentage points behind. The end of the season found the Cards nosing out the Dodgers in a playoff for the flag by almost the identical margin—13 percentage points.

Last year it was the other way around. Brooklyn had the best night game percentage, .703. The Cards were second with .689. That's the way they finished during the regular season—one-two.

The Cardinals have played twice under the lights this season, and won both times. They gained their second victory last night, defeating the Dodgers in St. Louis, 5-4.

Rain washed out the scheduled day contest between the Philadelphia Phillies and Cubs at Chicago. A heavy downpour also put an abrupt halt to the Boston Braves-Pirates night game at Pittsburgh after the Bucs had taken a three-inning 3-0 lead. The New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds were not scheduled.

A's Scalp Tribe
The hustling Philadelphia Athletics gained ground on the American League leading Cleveland Indians when they nipped the Tribe 8-6 in 10 innings at Philadelphia. The two teams are even in games. But the Indians lead by 52 percentage points, having played fewer games.

The New York Yankees moved up to third place, within a half game of the leaders, by thrashing the St. Louis Browns 6-1 at the Yankee stadium.

The Boston Red Sox registered their third successive victory as they pasted the Detroit Tigers 6-3 at Fenway park.

In the American League's only night game, the Chicago White Sox scored two runs in the top of the fifth inning to tie the Senators in Washington 3-3. Rain ended the game at the end of the fifth.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, May 5 (AP)—When Pepper Martin turned up at Norman, Okla., to do some scouting for the Dodgers at the state high school baseball tournament (75 teams this year), he spotted Bud Wilkinson's football team drilling on an adjacent field.

The 44-year-old Pepper drifted over and challenged Jack Mitchell, star sooner back, to a footrace. . . . Martin won the first 40-yard dash by a yard, then lost by one stride to Tommy Gray, Oklahoma's fastest footballer.

Pepper then panted: "I can't come back as fast as I used to." . . . One of the players in that high school tourney was Willy Moore, Jr., son of the old-time Yankee relief hurler, Willy. Jr. is a pitcher-outfielder for Hollis, Okla., high school, while another son, Bill, is a freshman outfielder at the same school. . . . Apparently they both can hit better than their old man.

A MISS IS GOOD AS A MULE.

At a recent dinner in Kansas City, Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler and Sandlot Czar Ray Dumont had a lot of fun handing each other compliments—right and left handed. . . . Naturally there was some mention of Ray's celebrated circus stunts, but Dumont had the last word: "Our good friend, Mr. Chandler, still is a Democrat at heart. Don't be surprised to see a revival of that sport—donkey baseball."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Look for a warm day in Chicago May 11, when the national basketball league bosses meet. A hot session is promised and there's even some talk of drafting a Chicago baseball writer as commissioner, since Piggy Lambert says he's stepping out. . . . Mary Lou O'Connor, 15-year-old owner of Jeff Hanover, a prominent candidate for the 1948 Hambletonian, has just acquired a 1950 Hambletonian colt. He's a light brown named Carrot Top which Mary Lou's father bought for $550 at the recent Saratoga auction. . . .

STRICTLY CORNY

During one year at Clemson college, Ray Mathews, freshman football star who hails from that citadel of the confederacy, McKeesport, Pa., has become such a deep-deep southerner that his teammates call him "Grits"—after his favorite breakfast dish. . . . and next fall the fans likely will ask, "Hominy more like him do they have in Pennsylvania?"

END OF THE LINE

Fred Price, who covers baseball games for the Villanova college paper, also is regular first baseman on the college ball team. . . . it's a cinch he won't score himself out of a baseball. . . . When Carl Schuette, Marquette university javelin tosser, practices on the Lake Michigan beach during his week-ends at home, a dozen of his Sheboygan, Wis., townsmen are sure to ask if he's spawning fish. . . . Now that might be a sensible use for a javelin.

Earl Sande Given 60-Day Suspension

New York, May 5 (AP)—Earl Sande, the "handy guy" of the saddle who made riding history a generation ago and later turned race horse owner and trainer, has been ruled off the nation's major tracks for 60 days.

The jockey club stewards handed out the suspension yesterday, 24 hours after the bailing, 49-year-old former jockey had been arraigned on a Federal charge of illegally possessing narcotics.

The jockey club issued a statement that the presence of a drug was found in a saliva test of Big Stage, a Sande-owned horse and a Kentucky Derby nominee which won the third race at Jamaica April 21 at odds of $12.40 for $2.

The suspension bars Sande from the grounds of any track under the jurisdiction of the turf's ruling body for the period the setback is in effect Sande's foreman, Eugene Donaldson, and a groom, Francis Booth, were suspended for 30 days and denied the same privileges.

CARDS FOLLOW TITLE CUSTOM IN NIGHT WIN

By JOE REICHLER

The St. Louis Cardinals this season are following an old National League custom—win at night and you win the pennant.

That proved to be the winning formula in 1946 and 1947. The Cardinals were the best night owls in '46, winning 32 and losing 22 for a 593 percentage. Brooklyn was second at night, 12 percentage points behind. The end of the season found the Cards nosing out the Dodgers in a playoff for the flag by almost the identical margin—13 percentage points.

Last year it was the other way around. Brooklyn had the best night game percentage, 703. The Cards were second with 689. That's the way they finished during the regular season—one-two.

The Cardinals have played twice under the lights this season, and won both times. They gained their second victory last night, defeating the Dodgers in St. Louis, 5-4.

Rain washed out the scheduled day contest between the Philadelphia Phillies and Cubs at Chicago. A heavy downpour also put an abrupt halt to the Boston Braves-Pirates night game at Pittsburgh after the Bucs had taken a three-inning 3-0 lead. The New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds were not scheduled.

A's Seal Tribe

The hustling Philadelphia Athletics gained ground on the American league leading Cleveland Indians when they nipped the Tribe 8-6 in 10 innings at Philadelphia. The two teams are even in games. But the Indians lead by 52 percentage points, having played fewer games.

The New York Yankees moved up to third place, within a half game of the leaders, by thrashing the St. Louis Browns 6-1 at the Yankee stadium.

The Boston Red Sox registered their third successive victory as they pasted the Detroit Tigers 6-3 at Fenway park.

In the American League's only night game, the Chicago White Sox scored two runs in the top of the fifth inning to tie the Senators in Washington 3-3. Rain ended the game at the end of the fifth.

Earl Sande Given 60-Day Suspension

New York, May 5 (AP)—Earl Sande, the "handy guy" of the saddle who made riding history a generation ago and later turned race horse owner and trainer, has been ruled off the nation's major tracks for 60 days.

The jockey club stewards handed out the suspension yesterday, 24 hours after the balding, 49-year-old former jockey had been arraigned on a Federal charge of illegally possessing narcotics.

The jockey club issued a statement that the presence of a drug was found in a saliva test of Big State, a Sande-owned horse and a Kentucky Derby nominee which won the third race at Jamaica April 21 at odds of $12.40 for $2.

The suspension bars Sande from the grounds of any track under the jurisdiction of the turf's ruling body for the period the setback is in effect. Sande's foreman, Eugene Donaldson, and a groom, Francis Booth, were suspended for 30 days and denied the same privileges.

TAFT LEADING IN OHIO VOTE

Columbus, O., May 5 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft took a 14 to 9 lead today in a see-saw vote battle with Harold E. Stassen for Ohio's 23 contested GOP Presidential delegates.

Incomplete returns from yesterday's 700,000-vote Republican primary indicated seven Taft delegates had been elected and seven others led for a total of 14. Taft already has 30 delegates without contest.

The vote count indicated four Stassen delegates had been elected—in the Akron and Youngstown industrial areas—and five others were leading for a total of nine.

This is short of the 12 delegates Stassen predicted he would get at the end of his Ohio campaign. It was one less than the 10 most politicians said he needed to make his foray into Taft's home state a success.

FAIRFIELD LIONS HEAR INDIA TALK

Britain's withdrawal from India and Palestine prior to the solution of the problems there may lead to an increase in Communism among disaffected elements in those countries, District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter told the Fairfield Lions club Tuesday evening.

Speaking at a regular meeting of the club held in the Shetter house, Chambersburg street, Teeter told of his experiences in India during World War II and then pointed out that "we brought pressure to bear on Britain urging it to withdraw from India and Palestine before we had any solution for the problems there. Unless the situation stabilizes more rapidly than appears possible at present it is to be feared that disaffected elements will be ripe for the experienced disciples of Communism who do their best work in stirring up the discontented."

The possibility of publishing a booklet advertising the advantages of Fairfield and the possibility of conducting a voluntary scrap campaign and clean-up week in Fairfield were discussed by members of the club. President Robert Kleppinger presided with 30 in attendance.

Today's Talk

SPIRITUAL NOURISHMENT

Within a month I have twice visited the National Gallery of Art at Washington, D. C. It is one of the most beautiful buildings and undoubtedly the most beautiful Art Gallery in America. It was the gift of Mr. Andrew W. Mellon to the nation, including his priceless collection of paintings. Great benefactors have since added materially to the collection, so that it promises, not perhaps to be the biggest, but one of the finest in all this world.

Currently the great collection of German paintings have been on exhibition—202 of them—and it has been a rare privilege to view them. About a million people have seen them, and I sincerely hope they may be sent about the country so that many millions may see this group that is beyond all material worth. The collection, of course, is in charge of the U. S. Army, brought from the salt mines of Germany to America merely for safe keeping, and to be returned to their rightful owner when safe to do so.

There are 15 Rembrandts alone, a number of Frans Hals, two Vermeers, with the five that Mr. Mellon contributed to the Gallery, that are in themselves worth a trip to Washington to see! But the collection as a whole is impossible to briefly describe. People have come from all over this continent to view this exhibition, and although they belong to another nation they are the inheritance of us all.

To spend a day in this great Gallery is spiritual nourishment, and no one should visit the National Capitol without some time spent in this sanctuary of beauty. Nothing in this world is quite so soothing to the soul as to look upon great art—not even Nature can speak so various a language—silently.

It has been suggested that the German group of paintings be sent across the country, and a small charge made to see them, the money to be given to the hungry children of Germany—an excellent idea. I believe a Bill is before Congress to make such an arrangement possible. I wonder what the thoughts of the creators of this great art would be if they but knew that their masterpieces were now orphans on a troubled and war torn earth!

The destruction and desolation that war has brought about to art and beauty alone are sufficient to condemn it forever. Every single item of immortal art is an illustration from God's text-book.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "These Errors of Ours"

MEMORY REVIVED

"Aha!" cried the villain, "I've got you at last!"

And now to the track I shall tie you fast.

By ankle and wrist!"

Oh, memory of boyhood now far in the past!

I sat in the gallery, staring aghast;

That villain I missed.

As a symbol of evil his moustache was black.

The train was approaching full speed on the track.

When the hero appeared.

With courage the villain he rushed to attack.

Knocked him out with a blow and then pulled the girl back,

And I stood up and cheered.

Last week, "Babes in Toyland" I took him to see.

And, old Uncle Barnaby, man as can be,

With a miserly fist,

Roused that grandson of mine, and I chuckled when he

Resembled the boy that I once used to be

As he stood up and hissed.

COSTS, OTHER PROBLEMS ARE ENDANGERING FRUIT'S FUTURE

Will Adams county's multi-million dollar fruit industry disappear?

That was the question several leading fruit growers in the upper section of the county were studying today as they contemplated rapidly increasing costs of production and steadily lowering prices received from the products—particularly apples—that they produce.

The problem of keeping the industry going seems tremendous to them. The best product of the county—Montmorency cherry—which is by far the finest pie making cherry in the country and which is grown only in a few places besides Adams county, runs directly into the problem of costs. Bakeries can produce other pies cheaper and thus make more profit than they can from cherry, as a result the production of cherry pies by bakers, who produce most of the nation's pies, is at a low ebb.

Frequent Freezes

At the same time the local grower encounters the fact that during most years winter's chills remain in the county long enough to nip the profit out of the cherry crop.

Apples—the county's biggest fruit crop, run into several problems. Heavily increased costs of production make it almost impossible to do the job necessary to produce the finest red rip juicy apple with which those of Washington state can flood the eastern markets. It meets also competition from the citrus fruits with few willing to pay the price necessary for good apples when they can buy oranges cheaper.

Another problem facing the fruit industry is the increased industrialization of upper Adams county. Where once there was nothing but farms now there are the huge plants connected with the fruit industry, and an incoming rush of shoe factories, ceramic factories, and the like which drain away the labor needed to harvest the crops.

Outlook Not Good

In order to retain the workers who made the apple, cherry and peach industry great, the farmers must compete with the manufacturers in the matter of wages paid to the worker—and that too is cutting out the profit from the fruit.

The increasing industrialization of the upper tier of the county is being made in face of the fact that putting in industries in that section actually is raising costs to the industrialist in comparison with other sections of the county. Actually prevailing wage rates are about 10 cents per hour higher in the upper part of the county than in the eastern and southern sections.

With many apples unsold from last year, with cherry canners finding difficulty last year in disposing of crops and at least one taking a loss on his canned cherries, the outlook for fruit this year is definitely not good, growers declare. One smaller grower who made $4,000 from his crop in 1946, made $400 last year with a larger crop and hopes only to break even this year.

Other Factors

Adding to their woes is the developing and continuing fight against insect and fungus pests and diseases. Despite increasingly powerful insecticides and fungicides, the increased demands for a quality product and the increased diseases and pests are calling for more and more expensive materials to be used each year.

In addition there is the problem of quality. Washington state apples turn out big and red and delicious, and the only way Adams growers can compete is to do a better job—which means a more expensive job—of picking and growing. One grower in Franklin county has workers turn his apples after they have come off the tree so they will get the full color that buyers are demanding.

However other growers are confident that the county will pull through and the fruit industry will continue as one of the county's top businesses.

They recall that the industry did not start commercially in the county until 1893 and that in 1903 there were many who felt that the industry would pass out of existence, but that it came back stronger than ever.

Back in 1893 the county sold 1,500 bushels of apples to the Chicago market, the largest shipment of apples out of the county up to that date. Samuel Bream, near Biglerville, and Noah Sheely at Hilltown were the two big fruit growers then with Bream having eight acres of apples and 273 trees and Sheely having about 23 acres in apples. The start came when Sheely went to the Chicago World's Fair, talked about Adams apples at a hotel and a short time later a representative of the Mark Owen company of Chicago came to Adams county to buy the 1,500 barrels at $1.50 a barrel, then considered a good price even though the barrels cost 25 cents apiece. In 1903 when the county felt the bottom had dropped out of the apple industry, 35,000 barrels were shipped out of the county. By 1912 there were 165,000 apple trees in the county and by 1922 that had increased to

Farm Wage Rates Continue Climb

Farm wage rates continued their upward climb in Pennsylvania during the first quarter of 1948, State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst declared today.

The average wage now paid by Pennsylvania farmers for hired help is approximately 300 per cent of the 534,643 trees. Now about 600,000 apple trees are in the county.

Some Hope In Future

Cherries have shown the greatest increase, starting with 331 cherry trees in 1905 to about 217,000 now.

The annual fruit crop is valued at about $3,000,000, and few growers can see an immediate change from fruit to some other crop, despite the fact that many trees are nearing the end of their efficient fruit production life. There are still thousands of trees just coming into production and other thousands underway.

Just what the future will be most growers do not know, many however claim that proper advertising and better producing and packaging methods will provide the county in the future with a more prosperous fruit industry than it had in the past.

pre-war (1935-39) average and nearly 400 per cent of the 1909-1914 average, he said.

Competition with industry for workers brought farm wage rates to new peak levels by April 1, the secretary found from recent federal-state surveys.

Average wages paid by farmers of the state on April 1 of this year were $4.85 per day and $86 per month with board; $6 per day and $120 per month without board. The rates a year earlier were $4.35 per day and $75.25 per month with board; $5.25 per day and $108 per month without board.

Thirty-nine per cent of the nation's farms are operated by tenants today compared with less than 30 per cent 50 years ago.

Grains In Storage Heavier Than Usual

Stocks of corn still held on Pennsylvania farms on April 1, totaling 20,693,000 bushels, while slightly less than stocks held on the same date a year ago, were about 2,000,000 bushels greater than the 10-year average, 1937-1946, the state Department of Agriculture reports following federal-state surveys.

The corn stocks represented 45 per cent of the 1947 crop. Wheat stocks on farms of the state this April 1 at 4,682,000 bushels, or 21 per cent of last year's crop, were better than a million more than a year earlier and well above average. Oats holdings, however, were only 7,151,009 bushels, 36 per cent with 12,013,000 on April 1, 1947, and cent of the 1917 crop, compared the average of 9,631,000.

Thirty-nine per cent of the nation's farms are operated by tenants today compared with less than 30 per cent 50 years ago.

Grains In Storage Heavier Than Usual

Stocks of corn still held on Pennsylvania farms on April 1, totaling 20,693,000 bushels, while slightly less than stocks held on the same date a year ago, were about 2,000,000 bushels greater than the 10-year average, 1937-1946, the state Department of Agriculture reports following federal-state surveys.

The corn stocks represented 45 per cent of the 1947 crop.

Wheat stocks on farms of the state this April 1 at 4,682,000 bushels, or 21 per cent of last year's crop, were better than a million more than a year earlier and well above average. Oats holdings, however, were only 7,151,000 bushels, 36 per cent of the 1947 crop, compared with 12,012,000 on April 1, 1947, and the average of 9,631,000.

Today's Talk

SPIRITUAL NOURISHMENT

Within a month I have twice visited the National Gallery of Art at Washington, D. C. It is one of the most beautiful buildings and undoubtedly the most beautiful Art Gallery in America. It was the gift of Mr. Andrew W. Mellon to the nation, including his priceless collection of paintings. Great benefactors have since added materially to the collection, so that it promises, not perhaps to be the biggest, but one of the finest in all this world.

Currently the great collection of German paintings has been on exhibition—202 of them—and it has been a rare privilege to view them. About a million people have seen them, and I sincerely hope they may be sent about the country so that many millions may see this group that is beyond all material worth. The collection, of course, is in charge of the U. S. Army, brought from the salt mines of Germany to America merely for safe keeping, and to be returned to their rightful owner when safe to do so.

There are 15 Rembrandts alone, a number of Frans Hals, two Vermeers, with the five that Mr. Mellon contributed to the Gallery, that are in themselves worth a trip to Washington to see! But the collection as a whole is impossible to briefly describe. People have come from all over this continent to view this exhibition, and although they belong to another nation they are the inheritance of us all.

To spend a day in this great Gallery is spiritual nourishment, and no one should visit the National Capital without some time spent in this sanctuary of beauty. Nothing in this world is quite so soothing to the soul as to look upon great art—not even Nature can speak so various a language—silently.

It has been suggested that the German group of paintings be sent across the country, and a small charge made to see them, the money to be given to the hungry children of Germany—an excellent idea. I believe a Bill is before Congress to make such an arrangement possible. I wonder what the thoughts of the creators of this great art would be if they but knew that their masterpieces were now orphans on a troubled and war torn earth!

The destruction and desolation that war has brought about to art and beauty alone are sufficient to condemn it forever. Every single item of immortal art is an illustration from God's text-book.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "These Errors of Ours"

MEMORY REVIVED
"Aha!" cried the villain, "I've got you at last!
And now to the track I shall tie you fast
By ankle and wrist!"
Oh, memory of boyhood now far in the past!
I sat in the gallery, staring aghast;
That villain I hissed.

As a symbol of evil his moustache was black.
The train was approaching full speed on the track,
When the hero appeared.
With courage the villain he rushed to attack,
Knocked him out with a blow and then pulled the villain back,
And I stood up and cheered.

Last week, "Babes in Toyland" I took him to see.
And, old Uncle Barnaby, man as can be,
With a miserly fist,
Roused that grandson of mine, and I chuckled when he Reminded the boy that I once used to be
As he stood up and hissed.

COSTS, OTHER PROBLEMS ARE ENDANGERING FRUIT'S FUTURE

Will Adams county's multi-million dollar fruit industry disappear? That was the question several leading fruit growers in the upper section of the county were studying today as they contemplated rapidly increasing costs of production and steadily lowering prices received from the products—particularly apples—that they produce.

The problem of keeping the industry going seems tremendous to them. The best product of the county—Montmorency cherry—which is by far the finest pie making cherry in the country and which is grown only in a few places besides Adams county, runs directly into the problem of costs. Bakeries can produce other pies cheaper and thus make more profit than they can from cherry, as a result the production of cherry pies by bakers, who produce most of the nation's pies, is at a low ebb.

Frequent Freezes
At the same time the local grower encounters the fact that during most years winter's chills remain in the county long enough to nip the profit out of the cherry crop.

Apples—the county's biggest fruit crop, run into several problems. Heavily increased costs of production make it almost impossible to do the job necessary to produce the finest red rip juicy apple with which those of Washington state can flood the eastern markets. It meets also competition from the citrus fruits with few willing to pay the price necessary for good apples when they can buy oranges cheaper.

Another problem facing the fruit industry is the increased industrialization of upper Adams county. Where once there was nothing but farms now there are the huge plants connected with the fruit industry, and an incoming rush of shoe factories, ceramic factories, and the like which drain away the labor needed to harvest the crops.

Outlook Not Good
In order to retain the workers who made the apple, cherry and peach industry great, the farmers must compete with the manufacturers in the matter of wages paid to the worker—and that too is cutting out the profit from the fruit.

The increasing industrialization of the upper tier of the county is being made in face of the fact that putting in industries in that section actually is raising costs to the industrialist in comparison with other sections of the county. Actually prevailing wage rates are about 10 cents per hour higher in the upper part of the county than in the eastern and southern sections.

With many apples unsold from last year, with cherry canners finding difficulty last year in disposing of crops and at least one taking a loss on his canned cherries, the outlook for fruit this year is definitely not good, growers declare. One smaller grower who made $4,000 from his crop in 1946, made $400 last year with a larger crop and hopes only to break even this year.

Other Factors
Adding to their woes is the developing and continuing fight against insect and fungus pests and diseases. Despite increasingly powerful insecticides and fungicides, the increased demands for a quality product and the increased diseases and pests are calling for more and more expensive materials to be used each year.

In addition there is the problem of quality. Washington state apples turn out big and red and delicious, and the only way Adams growers can compete is to do a better job—which means a more expensive job—of picking and growing. One grower in Franklin county has workers turn his apples after they have come off the tree so they will get the full color that buyers are demanding.

However other growers are confident that the county will pull through and the fruit industry will continue as one of the county's top businesses.

They recall that the industry did (Please Turn to Page 5)

OBSERVE HOME DEMONSTRATION WEEK IN COUNTY

"Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" will again be the theme of the rural women of Adams county and of the nation as they observe the third National Home Demonstration week starting Monday, Miss Mary Jane Mickey, county home economics extension representative, said.

Recognition will be given this week to the 3½ million women who are taking part in the home economics extension program throughout the nation and to the 3,000 home economics extension representatives who work with volunteer groups and individuals to bring the newest developments in homemaking science within the reach of millions of farm families.

Bulletins Available

In Adams county this service is provided for all interested homemakers by the Agricultural Extension Association. Everyone is urged to take advantage of this free extension service. Bulletins published by Pennsylvania State college concerning almost any home economics subject may be obtained just by the asking.

During the winter months regular home economics meetings were held in twelve communities in the county. Discussions and demonstrations pertaining to foods, clothing, home management, and child care were held.

Much interest has been shown by the homemakers in refinishing old pieces of furniture. Many women have learned how to remove old paint and varnish, how to apply a new finish, and how to weave a new case seat. The making of slip covers, hooked rugs, draperies, and the study of the arrangement of furniture and accessories have helped homemakers make their homes more attractive.

Did Room Over

Mrs. Harry Kime of Hampton, an active participant in the home economics extension program, has "done over" her living room this past winter. She slip-covered her studio couch and an overstuffed arm chair and foot stool. She also re-upholstered a rocking chair, and rewove new cane seats in two straight chairs. She selected colors that harmonized with the rug, wall paper and other furnishings of the room. Mrs. Kime says that her living room

Turnpike Won't Hit Valley Forge

Harrisburg, May 5 (AP) — Fears that the proposed eastern extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike would cut through historic Valley Forge were stilled today by a new map which shows the route passing south of the famous landmark.

The Pennsylvania turnpike commission released a map of the new toll road extension, which shows in detail where the route will cross existing highways in eastern Pennsylvania.

When the new eastern extension was first announced, it was feared the road would slice through Valley Forge impairing certain historic sites. However, Gov. James H. Duff later said the road would not cut through the landmark, and the map shows that it crosses to the south of the historic area but north of Devault, Chester county.

The map also fills in additional has a "new look" for spring. More efficient and better methods of doing ordinary household tasks were considered at the meetings. Arrangement of storage space, good posture and use of good equipment, are only a few of the things that women thought helped them save time and energy.

Meal planning and food preparation are other phases of homemaking that the county women studied. Demonstrations on salads, oven dishes, desserts, meat cookery, and homemade mixes were of interest to all. The preparation of fruits, vegetables, and meat for freezing was demonstrated. Various packages, containers and jars suitable for freezing purposes were displayed.

Learned Short Cuts

In some communities the women learned about short cuts in sewing, how to clean, oil and adjust their sewing machines, and how to use sewing machine attachments. Also discussions were held on wardrobe planning; design and construction of a suitable house dress; and fashion trends.

These home economic extension meetings were brought to a climax at a county-wide spring meeting held recently at the St. James Lutheran church here. No meetings will be held throughout the summer months but will be started again next fall. 4-H club work with the rural young people is carried on during the summer.

For more information concerning the county home economics extension program, write or phone Miss Mary Jane Mickey, Court House, Gettysburg, phone 637.

DIVORCEE HELD

name of the woman arrested there as Lillian Lucille Becker, of Topanga, Cal. She was arrested at Centreville, Md., a short time after ransacking Reid Hall, a dormitory at Washington college.

Denies Theft

Miss Amanda Bradley, dean of women at the college, reported seeing a stranger in the hall of the women's dorm. Later a coed saw a woman leave the building by the rear door and enter a car. Another girl followed the car on her bicycle and noted the license number. The first coed contacted the police.

Sheriff Bartus Vickers of Kent county said the woman acknowledged entering Reid hall but denied she was connected with the series of thefts at other girls' school in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia.

State's Attorney A. Park Rarin of Kent county, Md., said the car the California woman was driving contained clothes, jewelry and other valuables. A list of the articles found in the car was received today by Chief Harpster, who said the loot was valued at more than $2,000. It included several diamond rings and other jewelry valued at from $10 to $200 each, costume jewelry and a pair of oxfords and a Mexican hand-tooled leather pocketbook valued at $40.

included Lloyd W. Kleinfelter, S. E. Kapp and M. LeRoy Ziegler. Deputy District Governor Robert Snyder, of the Caledonia Lions club, was the guest speaker. The program arrangements for the meeting were in charge of the safety committee, Blaine G. Walter, chairman, Harvey W. Knouse and Clair Shillito.

Miss Julia Yost played a number of piano solos and Earl Fohl led in group singing.

Forty-one members and one guest were present. The next regular meeting of the club will be held May 18 at 6:30 o'clock in the school cafeteria at which time the program will be in charge of the Citizenship and details of the 100-mile four-lane route previously announced by the governor. It passes through Cumberland, York, Dauphin, Lebanon, Lancaster, Berks, Chester and Montgomery counties to its terminus at King of Prussia, Philadelphia suburb.

Patriotism committee members of which included S. E. Kapp, chairman, Charles L. Taylor and Robert W. Wentz.

Group No. 3, M. LeRoy Ziegler, captain, held a meeting following the regular meeting for the purpose of discussing a forthcoming project.

organization which is being put into effect called "Sports Incorporated" which is to help curb juvenile delinquency, by keeping the young people occupied. Continuing he said: "Athletics are an essential part of the high school education to help the young people to appreciate good sportsmanship. An athlete should be awarded the same as anyone who should excel in another scholastic activity."

Another Ladies' night will be held next Tuesday evening when a "Mother's Day" program will be presented. The program committee of which George P. Smith is the chairman, will again be in charge of the program.

"Fly-up" Ceremony
A pantomime, "The Brownie Story," was presented at the Brownie meeting, held Tuesday afternoon in the fire hall. The characters were: Ellen Brumback, Suzanne Long, Faye Fissel, Betsy Thomas, Lorraine Snyder and Susan Baumgardner.

Following the play, the troop had their regular opening which included the color guard; the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the Star Spangled Banner. After the recital of the Brownie promise, each of the Brownies received their registration card for the year.

A "fly-up" ceremony was then conducted. There was only one Brownie to fly up to the Girl Scouts and she was Audrey Ellen Brumback, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. John C. Brumback. After the recital of the scout promise and the Girl Scout laws, Mrs. Leonard Kerchner, Browline leader, pinned the wings on Audrey. The ceremony was closed with the singing of "America," a dismissal of the color guard and the Girl Scout hand shake. Anna Mae Sell and Bette Reaver were the color guard. As a result of this "fly up" ceremony, Audrey Brumback was promoted from the Brownies into the Intermediate Girl Scout Troop No. 26 of which, Miss Doris LeGore is the leader and the Misses Kathleen Mehning and Mildred Applier, assistant leaders.

The Brownie meeting will not be held next Tuesday afternoon because the Brownies will be the guests of the Cub Scouts at a roller skating party next Tuesday evening at Rainbow Rink, near Taneytown. All Brownies are asked to meet in front of the Littlestown State Bank at 6:30 p. m.

Lewis E. Bair, Union township, was admitted to the Union Memorial hospital, Baltimore, Tuesday afternoon, where he will undergo an operation on Friday.

CHILD WELFARE

been carried away before the advancing armies, had withstood bombings and the tortures of war and had lost its parents. But the child was psychologically in good health.

The other child was reared by the family of an unwed mother and only after three years of the "loving warmth and care of a foster mother's home" and the services of psychiatrists was the child brought back to normal and could be placed for adoption.

Another child, he said, which was being reared by an aunt, who did not want the youngster after the child's mother had died, developed an illness which cleared up when the child went to a hospital but appeared again as soon as the child was returned home. Removal to a foster home cured the child permanently.

Foster Parents Praised
Townsend urged that children in foster homes be given medical and dental care stating "it is the least we can do for them" and should be dressed and kept in the same manner as the other children in the home in which they reside. "Our duty is to see they have a normal average life, as well as we can and it is the duty of the foster home to provide the warm loving care that the children need."

C. C. Culp, chairman of the advisory board, presided at the session. He praised the foster parents of Adams county who are caring for the children stating that it is their love and care which is responsible for the good that the service can do for the child.

Introduced were Miss Helen Hubbel, chief of child welfare services; Miss Beatrice McNally, adoption consultant for child welfare; Mrs. Mary Carrington, assistant secretary of the county child welfare services; Miss Christine Cunningham, secretary of the local service, and Miss Leone Pinkbner, receptionist.

WOMEN HEAR GOVERNOR DUFF

Harrisburg, May 5 (AP)—Gov. James H. Duff says pollution of Pennsylvania's streams has become "the number one health menace of the commonwealth."

"Water in 80 per cent of the homes in Pennsylvania is from streams vitally polluted," the governor said in a speech last night before the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs.

Duff said the state's giant clean streams project is slowly bringing about a general decrease in water pollution, but told the club women that the job requires the help of every individual citizen.

"Lack of public interest and public support," the governor emphasized, "is the only thing that can keep the program from going through."

Duff introduced a panel discussion on conservation of replaceable natural resources. Participating were
